April 18, 2018, Hagatna, Guam. As part of its continuing commitment to financial literacy, Bank of Guam commemorates National Financial Literacy month in April with a variety of outreach programs.

On April 19, 2018, the 17th Annual National Teach Children to Save Day, Bank of Guam leads local volunteers in visiting Guam's elementary schools, utilizing an American Bankers Association (ABA) approved curriculum which is age-appropriate. ANZ Bank and the local Association for Government Accountants will be joining this one day outreach in the community. The 42 volunteers will visit 7 schools and reach over 930 students. The schools are Agana Heights Elementary, Price Elementary, Juan M. Guerrero Elementary, M.U. Lujan Elementary, Guam Adventist Academy, Bishop Baumgartner and St. Johns School.

Bank of Guam has been piloting a financial literacy simulation program for high school students, reaching nearly 2,000 students in 6 schools, as well as youth programs such as the Guam DECA, Chamber of Commerce Life Skills, and Youth for Youth.
